Batteries

For Alkaline Batteries . . .

Alkaline batteries can be safely disposed of with normal household waste. Alkaline batteries are composed of primarily of common metals and do not pose a health or environmental risk during normal use or disposal. It is important not to dispose of large amounts of alkaline batteries in a group. Grouping of used batteries together can bring "live" batteries into contact with one another, creating safety risks. Throwing away one or two batteries as they are exhausted is perfectly acceptable.

For Rechargeable batteries CHECK with your local Hardware Store, Best Buy, Staples, Target, WalMart, Circuit City and Radio Shack

We also accept these types of batteries at our Annual Household Hazardous Waste Collection.

Cell Phones/Wireless

How to Recycle Your Wireless Device

You can recycle your wireless device through a drop-off location, mail back programs, through an internet auction site or by donating it to a charity. Three things to remember before you recycle your wireless phone:

1. Terminate your service,
2. Clear the phones memory of contacts and other stored information,
3. Remove your phone's SIM card, if it has one. Phones that operate on GSM networks use SIM Cards. If you are not sure if your phone uses a SIM card or if you need assistance removing your SIM card contact your wireless provider.

Check with your local Wal Mart & Radio Shack Stores.
